Kumar also understands the importance of planning for the future. She and her team at Kumar Law assist clients with their estate planning needs. "I've always been interested in estate planning, so having my own firm has allowed me to focus on it," Kumar says. "We work closely with a select group of financial and tax advisors to provide an expert, 360 approach to estate planning, including the preparation of trusts and wills. I work with each client hand-in-hand and ensure they understand each step in the process. It is very gratifying professionally when my work allows my clients to feel their assets are protected."

Drive, intelligence and a determination to forge her own unique path have been the keys to Rittu Kumar's success. At Kumar Law, the firm she established in 2017, Kumar brings more than 16 years of experience as a litigator and trial lawyer on both the state and federal levels to her clients as she focuses on employment law, business litigation, and contract disputes and negotiations. The daughter of immigrant parents, Kumar grew up surrounded by engineering and medical professionals. "I'm the first lawyer in the family and the black sheep," Kumar laughs. "My family has given me great support throughout my life and career, which has been invaluable." A serious student, Kumar completed her undergraduate degree at USC in three years, earned a Trustee Scholarship and co-founded the Business Scholar Society. After graduating from Loyola Law School, Kumar made partner at a prestigious firm in DTLA where she successfully tried cases in both federal and state court before founding Kumar Law. "The legal profession can be impersonal," Kumar shares. "Establishing personal relationships is of utmost importance to me. I am fortunate to have a great group of clients who appreciate my mission and have helped me create a strong network through referrals."
